What's Happening This Week

Tomorrow (Saturday) is the Pumpkinfest Parade! I hope you can make it! Please have your child wear their BCS shirt, and dress for the weather! The parade will only be cancelled if there is lightning, so check your email before leaving home, just to make sure!

Our students are LOVING our science unit on weather! They enjoy being weather watchers and noticing how the weather is constantly changing. Please encourage them in their exploration!

Sight words will be coming home today (Friday)! Please send these back to school each day. I review sight words one-on-one with students every day, but the more they practice at home, the more words they will be able to learn and recognize quickly! Please practice these words as often as you can, and return them to your child's folder so that I can check in with them at school. I will continue to add new words to their sight word pocket as they master the words they currently have. Please let me know if you have any questions about sight words!

Note from the Teacher: Thank you so much to everyone who signed up to help supervise lunch on my SST meeting days! We've got all of the days covered! I really appreciate the help so that I can attend these planning meetings to help my students succeed!

Thank you for allowing your child to earn coins to help provide clean water to those in need through Blood Water Mission! Our class was very excited to help children and families in need receive access to clean water!

This week, your child brought home a Book It! recording sheet. Please use this to keep track of the minutes that you are reading with your child at home, and turn it in at the end of each month to earn a FREE personal pan pizza!
