What's Happening This Week

This week, we will begin aimsweb testing. Aimsweb testing is standardized testing which is conducted one-on-one with the student. In kindergarten, we test reading skills and math skills. I will be administering the test, so while I am testing students, we will have a sub in our room. The testing will take place on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The results will allow me to see what we can work on as a class, individually, and how our school is doing compared to schools nationally.

Our new Bible unit is about sin entering the world and Noah's obedience. We will begin this unit on Monday.

We are starting to work on sight words at school. In the next couple of weeks, students will be bringing home sight words to practice and show off what they've been learning!

Friday is Early Childhood Game Night! Please RSVP so we know how many to expect. If you need another slip sent home, please reach out and I'll send one home with your child!

Note from the Teacher: We had an AWESOME week this week! Our students are doing so well, they are respectful and kind to each other which allows us to have so much fun while learning!
